

WHO WE ARE

The Partnership for Community-Based Prevention (P4CBP) is a dedicated group of professionals working collaboratively to address the issues Ohio's communities are facing related to behavioral health prevention and promotion. The P4CBP consists of Voinovich School Faculty and Professional Staff who are trained in a variety of disciplines: public health, social work, prevention, communications, sociology, recovery support, and health education and promotion. In addition, a cadre of Undergraduate Voinovich Research Scholars and other student employees contribute meaningfully to the work. The P4CBP draws extensively upon the rich array of resources offered by Ohio University – information technology, libraries, research & sponsored programs, and finance & administration. We recognize that the issues we work on are complex and no single entity or organization can address them alone. As such, much of the work is accomplished through external partnerships at the national, state, and local level including governmental public service entities, nonprofit organizations, behavioral health providers, behavioral health membership associations, and other institutions of higher education.

FUNDING

Since 2009, the P4CBP has garnered over $20M of state and federal funding through three funding partners and includes $4.5M from the Ohio Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services to facilitate the Ohio Center of Excellence for Behavioral Health Prevention
